

Luca Seletto

Head of Enel Innovation Hub Boston, Enel

Luca Seletto is the Head of Enel Innovation Hub Boston where he is responsible for tech scouting in the Boston area and fostering business opportunities between startups and different divisions at Enel.

Since 2019, Mr. Seletto established the Boston Hub and developed a network of partnerships with VC funds, accelerators and institutions, with the goal of increasing the exposure of Enel to highly innovative technologies. This has led to the identification of more than 500 startups and to the launch of several collaboration projects.

Prior to this, Mr. Seletto held key management roles in Innovation at Enel where he managed an EU funded acceleration program that supported more than 40 startups over a 2-year period and where he played an integral role in the development of the first Enel Innovation Hubs in Tel Aviv and San Francisco.

Mr. Seletto received a degree in Business Administration from Università di Roma Tor Vergata in Rome, Italy, and an Open Innovation and Corporate Entrepreneurship Certificate from ESADE Business & Law School in Barcelona. He speaks Italian, English and Spanish.
